

ID of Filamentous Organisms in Activated Sludge

New England Interstate Water Pollution Control Commission

Monday-Tuesday, May 17-18, 2010
Town of Wallkill Golf Course, Middletown, NY
8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.
Sign-in begins at 8:00 a.m.

This workshop covers the latest concepts in microorganism identification and control in activated sludge. Participants will receive hands-on training in filamentous organism assessment and identification techniques. The instructor will present an overview of activated sludge microbiology, and provide in-depth instruction in microscopic techniques in filament identification, process control and problem solving, the use and care of a phase contrast microscope, the handling and preparation of samples, and filament counting and staining.

This course is for water pollution control personnel, federal and state environmental agency staff, and wastewater consultants. Participants should bring samples of activated sludge MLSS for microscopic examination.
